International Conference on Mine Closure – 14-22nd September 2013

Hosted at the Eden Project in Cornwall, UK, Mine Closure 2013 brings together industry experts from around the world to share best practice on mine closure.

Designed for professionals, from engineers to community engagement practitioners, the event programme includes workshops and conference sessions with a focus on mine closure and its socio-economic and environmental legacies as well as field trips within the breath taking Cornish Mining World Heritage Site.

Mine Closure 2013 is part of the International series of Conferences founded by the Australian Centre for Geomechanics.

Call for Abstracts – Submit Yours by 25th February 2013

We’re looking to present the latest innovations and developments within mine closure - and are accepting abstracts up until 25th February 2013. If your paper is selected, it will be included in the Mine Closure Proceedings and you may also have the opportunity to present your work at the event.

One author from each selected paper will receive a discounted speaker rate when they register for Mine Closure 2013. Your abstract should provide a general scope of your work and its applications. Please see the guidelines and themes for authors on the website and submit online.
